GANDAKI PROVINCE ASSEMBLY

1. INTRODUCTION

In Nepal, the Constitution of Nepal was promulgated by the Constituent Assembly on September 20, 2015, and became a federal democratic republic. Nepal has transformed into a federal structure after a 240 years long unitary form of government and presently, there are 77 districts, 7 provinces, 753 local levels. Each province has a separate government along with its federal government. According to Article 176 of the Constitution of Nepal, 2015, following the dissolution of the provincial assembly all the members forming the Provincial Assembly are elected. The term for the Provincial Assembly is five years, except when dissolved earlier.

Candidates for each constituency are chosen by the political parties or stand as independents. Each constituency elects one member under the first past the post system (FPTP or FPP) of election. Since Nepal uses a parallel voting system, voters cast another ballot to elect members through the party-list proportional representation. The current constitution specifies that sixty percent of the members should be elected from the first past the post system and forty percent through the party-list proportional representation system. Women should account for one-third of the total members elected from each party and if one-third percentage is not elected, the party that fails to ensure shall have to elect one-third of the total number as women through the party- list proportional representation.

The Gandaki Province Assembly is one of the province assemblies of Nepal which was formed through an election in 2017. In Gandaki there are 11 districts (Kaski, Syangja, Tanahu, Lamjung, Gorkha, Manang, Mustang, Myagdi, Baglung, Parbat, and Nawalpur), one metropolitan city, 26 municipalities, 85 rural municipalities, and 759 wards, having 18 constituencies for the federal parliament and 36 constituencies for the province assembly. The current Chief Minister of Gandaki Province is Surendra Raj Pandey who is also the leader of the house. Prithvi Man Gurung is the governor of Gandaki Province and the speaker of the Provincial Assembly is Krishna Prasad Dhital.

Among 60 seats in the Provincial Assembly, 27 seats by ruling party Nepali Congress, 22 seats by CPN-UML, 8 from CPN (Maoist Centre), 2 from Rastriya Prajatantra Party (RPP) and 1 from CPN (Unified Socialist) Respectively. The secretary prepares the work plan of the assembly a day before the meeting as directed by the Speaker and a copy is usually delivered to each member and the parliamentary party. The members who want to register the bill should give notice to the secretary from 11 am to 2 pm.

After the arrival of the Speaker in the meeting room, and the national anthem is played, the Speaker begins the meeting. After the member who has submitted the proposal with the consent of the speaker has spoken, the other members can speak in the order in which the Speaker has called or indicated the name. No member can speak on the same proposal more than once without the permission of the speaker. But the proposing member can speak again at the end of the discussion to answer. If any member wishes to discuss the matters of urgent and public importance, he or she must notify the Secretary at least two hours before the commencement of the meeting and the proposal must be supported by at least two members. - Does it negate any other existing laws within the country?
- What are the merits of the legislation?
- According to the objectives of the Bill, what are the possible approaches that can be taken?
- Are there any arrangements within the Bill that are counter to each other?
- Does the financial memorandum layout the budgetary suggestion of the provisions of the Bill for the State?
